

Enjoy Mediterranean Flavours Inspired by Venice with Citrus Restaurant's Venetian Summer Menu at the Park Lane Hotel

Park Lane Hotel, London, July 2011 – This summer the flavours of the Mediterranean will be bursting into London as Citrus, the Park Lane Hotel's contemporary Italian restaurant, launches its special Venetian-inspired menu.

Served in Citrus from Wednesday 20th July, the Venetian Summer Menu has been created with the expertise of renowned Italian chef Daniele Turco, Executive Chef at the Gritti Palace Hotel in Venice, who will be visiting London to refine the dishes and launch the menu.

Daniele's cookery language has a marked Mediterranean flavour inspired by the culinary traditions and cultures of the countries overlooking the Mediterranean Sea. He has a thirst for culinary innovation and his time spent working in Malta, Sicily and Istanbul has flavoured his unique cooking style.

For the Citrus summer special, Chef Turco has devised a menu of Venetian-inspired dishes, including whipped air-dried cod, linguine pasta with clams, traditional scampi risotto, home-made black ink tagliolini with cuttlefish, guinea fowl breast in traditional 'Peperada' sauce, Venetian-style calf's liver with polenta and carnival millefeuille with wild strawberries.

The Venetian Summer Menu will be available from Wednesday 20th July until Wednesday 31st August 2011 in Citrus restaurant at the Park Lane Hotel. Dishes are available à la carte from £7.50. For more information or to book, visit www.citrusrestaurant.co.uk or call +44 (0)207 290 7364.
